Syntactic change is the evolution of the syntactic structure of a natural language.. Over time, syntactic change is the greatest modifier of a particular language. [citation needed] Massive changes "attributable either to creolization or to relexification" may occur both in syntax and in vocabulary. Syntactic change can also be purely language-internal, whether independent within the ...

The most important natural laws for structural engineering are Newton's Laws of Motion. Newton's first law states that every body perseveres in its state of being at rest or of moving uniformly straight forward, except insofar as it is compelled to change its state by force impressed.. Newton's second law states that the rate of change of momentum of a body is proportional to the resultant ...
